

Appendix F

Public Involvement

Public involvement is critical in developing the very best possible forest management plan for the northwest Oregon state forests. The public contributes information, ideas, and values that are essential to plan development. Also, the public involvement process can help to gain the public's understanding and support for management actions on the northwest Oregon state forests.

The planning team carried out extensive public involvement as it developed the 2001 forest management plan, as detailed in this appendix. The Oregon Department of Forestry's planning team provided information and sought public input at each step of the planning process, and solicited comments on the draft strategies and proposed actions. The two federal agencies involved with the incidental take permit, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and National Marine Fisheries Service, began to participate in the public involvement process in 1997, after development began on the proposed Western Oregon State Forests Habitat Conservation Plan (HCP).

The public involvement process was integrated with the overall planning process, and covered all parts of the planning process: the two forest management plans (northwest and southwest Oregon state forests), the proposed habitat conservation plan (HCP), and the federal NEPA (National Environmental Policy Act) analysis, which will be documented in an environmental impact statement (EIS) that will accompany the proposed HCP.

This appendix describes all public involvement for all documents leading up to approval of the 2001 forest management plan. The 2009 plan revision was based on the Board of Forestry's deliberation on the balance of economic, social, and environmental values provided through implementation of the Northwest Forest Management Plan (NW FMP)

on the Tillamook and Clatsop State Forests. As this plan has been implemented on the three North Coast Districts (Tillamook, Forest Grove, and Astoria), the Department has refined its information and learned from its management activities. With this updated knowledge, it had become apparent the expected economic outputs falls short of the predicted outputs, necessitating the adaptive management discussion with the Board. The process included meetings with stakeholders (e.g., timber and conservation interests), the Forest Trust Land Advisory Committee, and numerous Board of Forestry meetings where public testimony was heard. Further details on the Board of Forestry work can be found in the meeting materials prepared for each meeting posted on the Department web site.

History of Public Involvement

The public involvement process during development of the 2001 forest management plan included newsletters, public meetings and forest tours, a toll-free phone line, information on the world-wide web, a planning forum (focused on the forest management plan), a public interest committee (focused on the proposed HCP), peer review, an independent scientific review, and informal contacts with groups and individuals.

A chronological history of all public involvement activities is given on the next few pages, showing how all the activities fit together and in what sequence they occurred. After the history, each aspect of the process is described in detail; thus there are headings for the newsletters, for each committee, etc. The history includes only activities related to state forest policy and planning. For example, the Board of Forestry meets every month and considers many issues related to Oregon forests, but the chronological history shows only meetings where state forest planning was discussed or a decision relevant to state forest planning was made. Newsletters included a number of articles; only a few main articles for each issue are mentioned below.

The following acronyms are used in the history of public involvement.

Horizons* Newsletter

The Department of Forestry published the first issue of the Horizons newsletter in August, 1994, and continued to publish the newsletter throughout the planning process. The newsletter was dedicated to state forests management planning news and was published approximately twice each year, as work was accomplished and new steps taken. See the chronological history for the exact dates of publication.

At first, the newsletter focused on the northwest Oregon state forests. As work began on the habitat conservation plan for all western Oregon state forests, and the management plan for the southwest Oregon state forests, the newsletter also covered these plans. See the chronological history for information on focus points for each newsletter issue.

Horizons was mailed to an extensive list of interested individuals, organizations, and agencies. A broader audience was reached through press releases and articles in western Oregon newspapers. Interested persons and groups were invited to request one-on-one meetings or presentations.

Forest Log* Newsletter

The Oregon Department of Forestry publishes a newsletter, the Forest Log, which covers all of the department's activities. Approximately 3,500 copies are mailed every two months to interested individuals, organizations, businesses, and agencies. Several articles covered the development of the forest management plans, the Western Oregon State Forests Habitat Conservation Plan, and the environmental impact statement for the HCP. The articles gave readers contact information and explained how they could get more involved in the planning process. The main articles in the Forest Log are listed below. The newsletter included many brief updates on the planning process, announcements of public meetings, and announcements of Board of Forestry actions related to planning.

- The November-December 1995 issue of the Forest Log had articles explaining the forest management planning process for the northwest Oregon state forests, the concepts of structure-based management, and how to sign up to receive the Horizons newsletter.
- The March-April 1996 issue, which was the department's 1995 annual report, stated as part of the report on state lands management, that a habitat conservation plan was being prepared for western Oregon state forests.
- The March-April 1998 issue, which was the department's 1997 annual report, had an article that reviewed the entire state forests planning process to date, including the draft forest management plans, the draft HCP, the new administrative rules, and the role of monitoring and adaptive management.

Public Meetings and Tours

Public meetings were held at each major step of the planning process. Along with discussion of the forest management plans, the meetings also included discussion of the need for the HCP, the planning process for the HCP, and the relationship between the two forest plans and the HCP.

Public meetings were publicized in the newsletters, through press releases and media coverage, and letters to the Horizons mailing list. Specific locations varied for each set of meetings. Written comments were received after the meetings.

The meetings in November-December 1997 and June-July 1998 were held jointly by state and federal agencies. Representatives of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and National Marine Fisheries Service were present, along with staff from the Oregon Department of Forestry.

In addition, Department of Forestry planners met informally with interested people and groups over the course of the planning process. These contacts included informal meetings and tours, telephone conversations, distribution of informational materials, and outreach to local news media.

Toll-Free Telephone Line for Information

A toll-free information line was established in May 1994 (1-800-482-6866). The line provided recorded messages on the planning process and periodic updates; it also allowed people to give input by recording a message. The line was announced in the newsletters and kept in operation throughout the planning process.

World Wide Web Site: www.odf.state.or.us

The Department of Forestry has a world-wide web site. The department started to include information about state forests planning on the site in early 1995, and continued to do so after that time. The web site address is: www.odf.state.or.us, and includes information about all aspects of the department's work and responsibilities.

Notice of Intent

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and National Marine Fisheries Service ("the Services") published a notice in the Federal Register on October 28, 1997, about the HCP. The notice stated that the Oregon Department of Forestry had started the development of the HCP and was applying to the Services for an incidental take permit. The notice further stated that the Services and the Department of Forestry had jointly scheduled a series of public scoping meetings on the project. Finally, the notice stated that NEPA analysis would be done on the proposal, but at that time, the decision had not yet been made on what level of NEPA analysis would be required for the project. (Federal Register, October 28, 1997, Volume 62, Number 208, pages 55822-55825.)

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and National Marine Fisheries Service published the Notice of Intent to prepare an environmental impact statement on the Western Oregon State Forests Habitat Conservation Plan in the Federal Register on **.

Other Meetings

The National Wildlife Federation, a private nonprofit organization, held a meeting in July 1997, to discuss the HCP for western Oregon state forests. The Department of Forestry sent representatives to present information and answer questions.

Steering Committee

The planning process for the northwest Oregon state forests was guided by a steering committee comprised of Department of Forestry managers and county commissioners. The eleven-person group provided policy direction to the planning team and comment on key issues during the process. In addition, the steering committee members played a key role by informing community leaders and others of planning issues and progress.

Planning Forum for Northwest Oregon State Forests Management Plan

The Department of Forestry developed a contact group, called the planning forum, to assist the planning team with the development and review of resource goals and strategies for the management of the northwest Oregon state forests. Members were selected by the steering committee for the forest plan. The planning forum had eight members representing a wide range of interests related to state forest resource management. The group held its first meeting in October 1994 and completed its work in 1998. Over the 4-year period that the group met, the group held regular meetings and went on field tours of the state forests in order to better understand the issues. Over this time, two original members resigned, and two new members were added.

The planning forum was a link between key constituencies and interests and the planning team, assisted the team with the development and review of resource goals and strategies, and helped clarify issues for the planning team.

Peer Review

In February 1996, the Department of Forestry asked for professional review and critique of the draft strategies in the Northwest Oregon State Forests Management Plan. The peer review group included 10 recognized forestry and natural resource experts. The reviewers examined the structure-based management strategies and the other draft strategies in the forest plan, and provided extensive comments. The peer review of the draft strategies was completed by early fall 1996.

Public Interest Committee for the Western Oregon State Forests Habitat Conservation Plan

In January 1998, the Board of Forestry directed the Department of Forestry to establish a public interest committee (PIC) of eight to eleven people, who would be appointed by the State Forester. The committee members represented various groups with a stake in the Western Oregon State Forests Habitat Conservation Plan. The PIC's goal was to clearly define and focus on scientific, technical, and policy issues in the draft HCP, with the intention of helping to resolve these issues.

The State Forester appointed the PIC members on March 25, 1998. The members represented interest groups for recreation, environmental, fishing, timber, and counties with forest trust lands. A citizen representative was selected to chair the PIC, and the Department of Forestry appointed an ex-officio member to be the department's spokesperson. The department also provided administrative, informational, and technical support for the committee, and contracted two facilitators to assist the group in working through the issues. A complete list of committee, resource, and administrative/logistical members is given below.

The PIC delivered their final report to the State Forester in December 1998 (Public Interest Committee 1998). The report's Appendix D describes in detail the group's process and meetings. For each major issue considered by the committee, the report gives a summary of the issue, the group's discussion, the Department of Forestry direction and proposed strategy, and PIC recommendation. The major issues discussed were: integration of planning documents, northern spotted owl, marbled murrelets, non-listed species, aquatic and riparian issues, landscape design and management, monitoring and adaptive management, cumulative effects, communication and public involvement, and implementing agreements and enforcement.

Independent Scientific Review of the Western Oregon State Forests Habitat Conservation Plan

In 1998, the Department of Forestry asked for an independent scientific review of the draft Western Oregon State Forests Habitat Conservation Plan and Northwest Oregon State Forests Management Plan. The intent was to receive input and critique from a diverse group of scientists. Dr. John P. Hayes (Department of Forest Science, College of Forestry, Oregon State University), coordinated the thorough and intensive review, which was done by 26 scientists, each expert in one or more of the major issues. The final report describes in detail the approach used, discussion of the review, the reviewers' complete comments and responses to the review questions, and other related information (Hayes 1998). The reviewers began their work in May 1998 and finished in July 1998.

The independent scientific review examined the scientific underpinnings of the objectives and strategies set forth in the HCP. It was not designed to evaluate policy. As pointed out in the report's preface, scientific truth is not established by voting, but through a rigorous and critical evaluation of the evidence. The team included reviewers with expertise in northern spotted owls, marbled murrelets, other birds, mammals, amphibians, fish, plants, silviculture, aquatic ecology, forest ecology, geomorphology, hydrology, and landscape strategies. For most topics, the team included more than one person with expertise in the area, with the intent of including a diversity of perspectives. The selection committee considered 105 nominees; the final team had 26 people. These people are listed below. The report's Appendix F includes brief resumes of each team member.

The Department of Forestry prepared a set of questions to help structure the review. These questions were based on concerns raised by department staff, the PIC (described later in this appendix), the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and National Marine Fisheries Service. Reviewers were asked to critique the HCP and forest management plan, focusing on their areas of expertise, and to answer the subset of questions related to their expertise. They were encouraged to comment on any aspects of the two plans and answer any additional questions that they desired. The report includes the full text of the questions and instructions to reviewers, as well as their comments.

Process for Administrative Rules for Management of State Forest Lands

During the development of the HCP and forest management plans, it became apparent that new administrative rules on forest planning and the management of state forest lands would provide clear, overall direction for these lands, and would make permanent a number of temporary directives. Therefore, a process was started to develop draft rules, get public input, and establish permanent administrative rules.

The public input process included a citizens' advisory committee, public hearings, and a public comment period. Hearings on the draft rules were held in February-April 1996. A citizens' advisory committee formed at this same time to advise on revisions of the draft rules. This committee completed its work in July 1997. A second set of hearings was held on the new draft rules in August 1997. All five hearings were held on the same day, August 26, 1997; the locations were Cannon Beach, Forest Grove, Roseburg, Portland, and Salem. Written comments were accepted until January 1998.

The Board of Forestry unanimously approved new administrative rules for the management of state forest lands in January 1998.

Land Base Designation Public Involvement Process

On January 7, 1998, the Board of Forestry adopted new administrative rules on state forest management policy and planning (see above). Among other items, these rules require that state forest lands be designated either as 1) silviculturally capable of growing forest tree species; or 2) as not capable of such growth. Each district was required to determine the land base designations for state forest lands in their district, and then to develop maps displaying this information. The State Forester approved the draft maps in 1998. On September 9, 1998, the Board of Forestry authorized the State Forester to begin the rulemaking process to adopt OAR 629-035-0045 Forest Land Base Designation Maps and the draft maps as an administrative rule.

As part of the rulemaking process, public hearings were held on the land base designation maps in January 1999. Written comments were also accepted during January 1999.

The draft land base designation maps were submitted for adoption as administrative rule to the Board of Forestry at their April 1999 meeting. The land base designation maps were adopted, and are OAR 629-035-0045.

The forest land management classification system is OAR 629-035-0050. Actual land classifications will be approved after the forest management plan is approved.
