Summary of comments

Commenter, affiliation	Topic	Comment or question
Curtis Powers, REG	ICF study assumptions	Biodiesel blends and volumes can go higher than what is assumed in the study.
Mark Bunch, BP	Project-based crediting	Would like to see linking of project-based crediting between WA/CA/OR (meaning applications/approved projects for refinery investment credit programs, direct air capture, innovative crude oil, renewable H2 use).
	Exempt uses	Would like to allow for credit generation for exempt uses (while not generating deficits on the deficit-generating portion of the blend).
	Extending the CFP	Will there be adjustments to the standards starting in 2023 to make for a smoother curve to the later targets?
Jessica Spiegel, Western States Petroleum Association	Project-based crediting	Would like to add project-based credits as a methodology.
	Model updates	Would like to urge updates to GREET and iLUC values, especially for soybean.
	Credit generation	Would like to see retroactive credit generation for transition from temporary to provisional pathways.

DEQ is a leader in restoring, maintaining and enhancing the quality of Oregon's air, land and water.

	General	Would like to have more time to submit comment letters during the rulemaking process.
	CPP regulations	Have concerns about the overlap between CPP and CFP.
Jana Gastellum, Oregon Environmental Council	ICF study assumptions	The assumptions are conservative even Scenario C.
	EER	Support for new EERs.
Kathy Moyd, League of Women Voters	Overlap of programs	Doesn't understand the overlap between programs under Office of GHG and other complementary programs, regulations, etc.
Henry Richardson, WattTime	Smart charging	There's more data available for smart charging.
Ken Nichols, FlexCharging	Smart charging	There's more data available for smart charging.
Marissa Bach, Shell	Infrastructure	Are we addressing infrastructure questions (capacity credits) from last rulemaking?
	Exempt uses	Would like to allow for credit generation for exempt uses (while not generating deficits on the deficit-generating portion of the blend).
Annabel Drayton, Northwest Energy Coalition	Book and claim accounting	Is book and claim accounting allowed for biogas?
Michael Graham, Columbia Willamette Clean Cities Coalition	EER	Are there specific new EERs that DEQ is working on?
Evan Rosenberg, SRECTrade	Oregon Fuel Reporting System	Will there be updates to the OFRS? Can suggestions be made?
