

Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) 2022: Year in Review

The end of 2022 marked an important milestone in implementing the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act, ORS 475A. The two-year development period from January 1, 2021 – December 31, 2022 came to a close with the adoption of final rules and the launch of the first regulatory framework for psilocybin services in the nation. This ‘year in review’ offers a summary of all the work we accomplished together in 2022.

- Over the past year, OPS has continued to support the Oregon Psilocybin Advisory Board and its five subcommittees in preparing recommendations for rulemaking by the statutory deadline of June 30, 2022. This included 19 board meetings and 110 subcommittee meetings. OPS recognized the many hours that board members contributed to this work and responded to recommendations in a September Letter to the Board.
- The Oregon Psilocybin Advisory Board acknowledged the importance of cultural and anthropological information that was not included in the Scientific Literature Review (English and Spanish versions were published in July of 2021). To support a shared commitment to making this knowledge available to the public, OPS compiled information presented to the Oregon Psilocybin Advisory Board Research Subcommittee by a variety of guest speakers and published a Cultural and Anthropological Review. The document is available in English and Spanish.
- Public listening sessions are an opportunity for members of the public to share comments, ideas, questions, and concerns. Three OPS Public Listening Sessions were held in July 2022, with Spanish and ASL interpretation, as well as CART captioning, for a total of six hours of public feedback. Public Listening Sessions were recorded and are available online. OPS staff also compiled questions across the three listening sessions a published a Summary of Questions and Answers document on the OPS website.

- OPS conducted a voluntary, anonymous Community Interest Survey between January 7 and February 6, 2022, which was translated into Spanish, Russian, Vietnamese, Simple Chinese/Mandarin, and Somali. The survey was designed to better understand who may be interested in accessing psilocybin services, in licensure, or training program approval. The 2022 Survey Findings Report provided preliminary findings one year in advance of accepting applications for licensure.
 - 4,421 people participated in the survey and 94% (4,162 participants) were interested in accessing psilocybin services
 - 36% (1,613) were interested in facilitator licensure
 - 22 % (982) were interested in manufacturer licensure
 - 20 % (903) were interested in service center licensure
 - 5 % (226) were interested in testing lab licensure
 - 15% (660) were interested in having a facilitator training program approved by OHA

- OPS adopted the first subset of rules related to psilocybin products, testing and training programs in May 2022. These rules were needed to specify curriculum requirements for programs planning to train people interested in facilitating psilocybin services in Oregon, as well as initial requirements related to psilocybin product testing.
 - OPS convened three Rules Advisory Committees (RACs) in February 2022, which accounted for four meetings and over 12 hours of discussion.
 - RACs included a diversity of opinions and viewpoints and were comprised of 26 individuals with subject matter expertise, lived experience, and who were likely to be affected by the proposed rules.
 - All meetings were recorded and posted to the OPS Administrative Rules webpage. After the RACs, OPS sent a letter to RAC members addressing how their input informed the proposed rules.
 - A public comment period ran from April 1-22, 2022, which included two public hearings on rules and over four hours of public testimony. Spanish and American Sign Language (ASL) interpretation was

- offered for public hearings. The hearings were recorded and are available on the OPS Administrative Rules webpage.
- A Hearings Officer Report and a Letter to the Public are also available on the OPS website.
 - After the adoption of May rules and to ensure that psilocybin facilitator training programs were able to accept and train students in time for them to apply for facilitator licenses in early 2023, OPS launched the Training, Licensing and Compliance (TLC) system on June 6, 2022 for training programs to apply for curriculum approval.

This work would not have been possible without a committed team of staff, supportive internal partners within the Oregon Health Authority and other state agencies, and the many fantastic community leaders who have dedicated their time and energy to the successful implementation of this groundbreaking public policy.
